

Features of Tenement Housing Reference sheet

The definition of a Tenement house is a house where more than one family lives and usually three or more houses in a row share a wall with a neighboring house. These houses became popular apartments for Mill workers in the mid to late 1800's. They were also known as "slums". Here are some pictures depicting a tenement house:

